

Our current nightmare of materiality can only be combated by an opposing development of spiritual awareness. The task of art is to stimulate this ability, which is why the artist's soul has always been the most potent feature of his artwork.

